I am submitting my resume for your consideration. I can bring to this position twenty-plus years' experience in industrial electrical systems, with a strong background in power distribution, DC drivers, variable frequency AC drivers and PLC programming. I am experienced in working with electronic and pneumatic controls, and distributive control systems. I possess a combination of theoretical knowledge and practical experience in electrical power and control systems, including AC and DC motors and drives, electrical distribution, PLCs, motion control systems, and instrumentation. I have also been involved in converting machinery with the development and implementation of system design modifications.

I possess strong administrative and communication skills but can also work independently. I am self-motivated and dedicated to further developing skills through formal technical training.

While living in Rapid City, South Dakota, I also ran a small business on the side, repairing and programming computer systems as well as designing websites.
